SUBJECT: Will I see you at CGI 2027?

I'm going to the 2027 CLOC Global Institute, May 10–13 in Las Vegas, and wanted to see if you're planning to be there.

I'm looking forward to stepping away from the day-to-day and hearing how other teams are approaching some of the same challenges we're working through. There's plenty happening with AI, but I'm just as interested in the people side of the work: getting buy-in, making decisions, and helping teams move forward.

If you're going, let's find time to catch up. And if you're considering it, here's the event info: cloc.org/cgi

Hope to see you there!

Social Media Option 1

I'm going to #CGI2027! Looking forward to catching up with familiar faces, meeting new people, and hearing what other legal ops teams are trying.

Who else will be in Las Vegas, May 10–13?

Social Media Option 2

Sometimes the most useful thing you can hear is, "We ran into that too."

That's part of why I'm looking forward to the 2027 CLOC Global Institute. A few days to ask questions, compare notes, and get a fresh perspective on the work waiting back at the office.

See you in Las Vegas, May 10–13.

Social Media Option 3

There's no shortage of conversation about what AI can do. I'm interested in how people are deciding where it belongs in their work.

That's one of the conversations I'm looking forward to at #CGI2027. This year's theme, THE HUMAN EDGE, gets at something I've been thinking about: as the tools change, how do we decide what to hand over, when to trust our own judgment, and what we need to get better at ourselves?

If you'll be there, let's connect!
